

HOPKINSVILLE, JULY 22, 1879.

SOCIALITIES.

Mrs. Terry and Miss Mills left for Cerulean Thursday.

Miss Bette Baker, of Cadiz, is visiting the family of Mr. Orr.

Mr. J. M. Hester, of Louisville, was the guest of the Phoenix Saturday.

Col. James O. Cooper has gone to Cerulean to match yards with Jo. Griffin.

Miss Jennie Gary, of this county, is continuing for some weeks at Sebree Springs.

Mr. Jas. M. Howe and wife went down last week to spend some days at Cerulean.

Miss Susie Edmunds departed last Tuesday for Paducah, to visit her cousin, Miss Mary Burnett.

Mr. Fort, a young gentleman from Robertson county, Tenn., is visiting his friend Mill Tice.

Miss Emma Glass departed last week for that delectable summer resort, Cerulean Springs.

Miss May Palmer, of Springfield, Tenn., was the guest of Mrs. J. W. Lander, last week.

Miss Willie Faulkner who has been visiting friends in Paducah for some weeks, has returned home.

Mr. B. O. Welch and his daughter Miss Duggie, left for Sebree Springs last Friday, to remain several days.

Marshall P. M. Owen, who has been quite sick recently, has resumed his duties, though looking rather emaciated.

Mr. Jos. S. Cohn and wife will celebrate their silver wedding next Thursday night 24th inst., by receiving a select company of their friends.

Our clever young friend Clarence Gold, of Clarksville, spent several days in the city last week. We won't tell you this time, Clarence, don't be alarmed.

Messrs W. B. Dorich and M. C. Murray, of Nashville, and C. C. Bell, of Springfield, Tenn., were among the prominent buyers on the tobacco board last week.

Messrs Marshall Foulks and Larkin Lindsay, of this city, left last week for Louisville, Col. They entertain high hopes of speedily accumulating a colossal fortune.

Hon. A. H. Clark returned to the city Wednesday, during a short cessation of his political canvass.

Among the charming young ladies visiting the city, are Misses Kate and Jane Newman, of Rome, Ga., who are the guests of Mrs. S. G. Buckner. They made many friends and admirers during their visit here last summer, and Hopkinsville society gladly welcomes their return.

Miss Ada Trice, of Hopkinsville, is visiting Miss Jessie Carr.—(Princeton Banner.)

Miss Ada returned home last week much to the delight of her many friends. She has been absent several weeks, part of the time visiting Miss Lena Bolinger, of Mayfield.

We regret to announce that Capt. Gaines will be debarred the pleasure of participating in the giddy dance for some time. He severely sprained his ankle recently at Cerulean by an accidental fall, and is hardly able to walk with a stick. He mentioned in a recent issue of his paper a young man who went to the ball on the 4th, and slept till time to return. Probably the water down there possesses soporific properties, and the Capt. was taking a somnolent stroll, while under the influence of it when he fell.

IMPROVEMENTS.

A new house is being erected by Mr. Nansen, on the corner of Clay and South streets.

Mr. Wm. Cowan is making preparations to erect a house on the vacant lot adjoining Mr. Hord's, on South Main street.

The Presbyterian church has recently had some very material repairs made upon it, in having the doors painted, etc.

Many other houses have been repainted and otherwise improved in the southern part of the city, greatly adding to their appearance.

The houses occupied by Messrs E. L. Foulke, P. M. Owen, and H. B. Rutherford have just been greatly improved in appearance by a fresh coat of paint.

Mr. Frank Waller is having his house on Maple street recovered and repaired generally. A carpenter's rule was found under the old roof which had been there forty years, and was still as good as new.

We have recently been over the grounds of the new cemetery, being laid off by Mr. Benj. Grove, a skillful engineer of Louisville. They present a most symmetrical and beautiful appearance, and it is to be hoped that the whole will be finished by the map Mr. Grove will leave, and be planted in trees, so that they can be coming on. We think the council intend laying off only part of it now, but they should realize the importance of doing it all at once. The lands are sufficiently experienced now to proceed under the direction of Mr. A. V. Townes, who is superintending it, without the supervision of Mr. Grove, and the work should be finished by all means.

HERE AND THERE.

Next Monday is quarterly court. Didn't we have some weather, though, last week?

Guests are flocking to Cerulean from every direction.

A protracted meeting is in progress at the Christian church.

Less than two weeks till the election. Rally! Democrats, rally!

"Doctor" McKeezie at the Court-house next Monday. Audite.

The St. L. & S. E. Railroad went into the hands of the L. & N. Road last Saturday.

Mr. Otto G. Lander has quit the printing business, and is now engaged as traveling agent for this paper.

The Chalybeate water from Sebree is recommended for children—try it. Received daily and sold by S. H. Turner.

The financial question is the all important one of the day. It is receiving the attention even of fair sex. One charming Miss on Maple street has declared herself in favor of Gold.

Another mad dog was killed in the southern part of the city Sunday evening. The first intimation of its disease was an attempt to bite some children. This matter should receive the attention of the proper authorities, and the dog laws be enforced.

Hon. James A. McKeezie, "Christian's favorite son," will address the citizens of this county at the Court-house next Monday. Every man in the county should be proud to have such an able Representative in Congress, and should turn out to hear him to a man, irrespective of opposing political predilections.

Mr. Jas. L. Wahl, lately of Paducah, will open a mammoth Jewelry establishment in the Queensware store of Mr. E. Reicher, on Main St., about the first of August. Mr. Wahl was born at Elkton, and his father was a professor of music in this city from '52 to '58, and is well remembered by many of our citizens. He has established an enviable reputation as a jeweler in Paducah and is withal a clever young gentleman and straightforward business man. He will keep a full stock of the best jewelry always on hand and will execute work in the most satisfactory manner. We are always glad to welcome enterprising business men to our town, and consequently we will be glad to receive Mr. Wahl as such, and bespeak for him a liberal share of patronage.

POLICE NEWS.

A FLUCKY YOUNG LADY.

One night last week some one entered the house of Mr. T. C. Hanberry, near Pees Dee, while Mr. H. was from home. The family were sleeping in a room above, and were aroused by hearing the burglar turn over a chair. His daughter, Miss Cordie, seized a pistol, ran to the upper window and fired at the villain as he escaped from the room below, but unfortunately missed him. No doubt his motive was robbery. He was seen as he ran off but could not be recognized in the darkness.

TERRIBLE MEEK.

The peaceful tranquillity which has reigned in the city for some days was disturbed Wednesday night by one of the most exciting melees that has occurred for months. The scene of the conflict was a boarding house on Nashville street, and the engagement took place around the festal board. Like the avalanche, it began in a manner hardly perceptible, but gradually increased in power until, with a terrible crash, it swept everything before it. A difference of opinion, it seems, existed between two men, named Meade and Bowman, and word brought on word until they began to emphasize their statements in a pugilistic manner. The proprietor of the house, with the assistance of one of the guests attempted to quell the riot, when the combatants turned upon them, and soon the fight was raging with an awful fury. Plates, cups, saucers, knives, forks, and dishes were hurled through the air in every direction. Bowman was struck with a glass of milk, and the red and white were mingled. Meade was likewise hit with a sugar bowl, and his hair and clothes were begrimed with blood and sugar, which trickled down into his collar and ears, but still they fought. Dishes of gravy, butter, preserves and the like continued to fly. Dismembered legs and limbs (of fowl), were strewn around the room promiscuously, and the table looked as if some beam of destruction had swept over it, crushing everything in its course. We know not how peace was secured, but when the smoke of battle cleared away, every man engaged in it was found to be wounded, some of them, however, seriously.

NOTICE OF ABSENCE.

I shall leave to-morrow, with my family, to visit my old home in North Carolina, and shall probably be absent four or five weeks. I have to gratefully thank my patrons for past favors and beg an excuse for my present absence. Due notice will be given of my return. Very Respectfully, B. D. FLEMING.

The Early Bird, manufactured at Lynchburg, Va., by Mr. Carrol is now superseding all other brands of smoking tobacco, is sold at same price as Durham's and is three grades better. When it is remembered that Mr. Carrol holds the medals for manufacturing the best for smoking in the world, you will be eager to try Early Bird the best in the market. Address CARROL'S EARLY BIRD TOBACCO WORKS, Lynchburg, Va.

The Providence Amateurs.

The Amateur Dramatic Company appeared at Mozart Hall last Tuesday night, and presented the two dramas "Little Treasures," and "Id' on Paris Francois." We know it is the custom with most newspapers to ignore the faults and laud the virtues of such entertainments, but believing that an honest opinion should always be expressed, we will, while commending the better parts, endeavor to delicately point out the deficient ones. The first piece was "Little Treasures," and "Gertrude," the heroine, was personated by Miss Bettie Howell, in a manner that reflected great credit upon her, and showed that she possessed real dramatic talent. Miss Lyle's personation of "Grandma" was rendered in an acceptable manner, though as the character was an unimportant one, her opportunities for displaying her powers as an actress were not good. Miss Ford's acting was characterized by less animation and vivacity, though her words were distinctly and audibly uttered. The hero, was personated by Mr. Rufus Rhodes, and his rendition of the part evinced the fact that he was peculiarly adapted to the personation of the character, which was that of a bashful lover. Mr. Smith did not throw enough vim into his part, but upon the whole did well. Mr. Martin acted well but did not have perfect control of his voice. He must be accustomed to public speaking, as his words were uttered in a declamatory tone.

The second piece was decidedly humorous, but for lack of space we cannot undertake to give a synopsis of it. The characters were represented by Messrs Ford, Craddock, Lyle, and Howell, and Messrs Mattill, Martin and Smith. The acting of all was equally as good as it was in the first piece, and that of Mr. Mattill was especially commendable. He is certainly excellently adapted to the carrying of humorous parts. What we have said has not been in a spirit of derogation, for we are bound to admit that the company possesses merit of no small pretensions. Our criticisms have been made, placing them upon a level with professionals, and of course the standard is much higher than if merely as amateurs. As amateurs they are at the top, but as compared with professionals they have their faults.

Laying aside our remarks which may seem to them a little severe, we will say that their visit gave universal satisfaction to all, and even those who insisted upon comparing them with professionals, had to acknowledge that they had seen many troupes not near so good. We hope the Amateurs will visit us again, and we will cordially welcome them. They cleared about $40, which is to be applied to the Sunday Schools of New Providence. The house was not large on account of the excessive, warm weather.

There is but one point of difference between Dr. Prewitt and Mr. Pratt as to the Crofton affair. Mr. Pratt does not deny the secret meeting but says there was no agreement. We would not impute to him a falsehood for we do not think he would knowingly misrepresent, but his memory has certainly failed him in this instance. Dr. Prewitt says he is responsible for the statement that there was a positive verbal agreement and that they both had observed it upon previous occasions. At the Democratic barbeque at Madisonville on July 2d, Dr. Prewitt was loudly and urgently solicited to speak. We were standing near and asked "Dr. why don't you give us a speech?" "Because," said he, "it would be treating Mr. Pratt unfairly." And he refused to speak. At the Republican barbeque here Saturday, Mr. Pratt again violated the agreement and spoke at length. "Look on this picture and then on that."

Deaths.

Died, at his residence, a few miles South of this city, on the 17th inst., Geo. Buckner, in the 61st year of his age.

He was one of the best and most highly respected citizens of the county, and his death falls with crushing weight upon the family and friends.

Died, at his residence at the Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum, at 2 A. M., July 19th, Capt. Thos. Mallory in the 54th year of his age.

The deceased was a son of Wm. Mallory, and was born in Montgomery county, Tenn. He married a Miss Pollard, of Caldwell county, Ky., who has been dead for some years. He leaves two daughters, one of whom is married, the other a young lady, was the only person present when his father passed away. About 1 o'clock he called to her to come to him, as he was very sick, but he soon got easier and she returned to her room, till a few minutes later hearing him breathing very hard, she ran to him and found him much worse. She then ran for Dr. Stone near by, and when he returned he was unconscious. Dr. Stone immediately returned for Dr. Bodman, and when they arrived he was dead. His disease was apoplexy. He had been Steward at the Asylum for ten years, and was a man revered by all who knew him. He joined the Baptist church at an early age. He was a man of worth in any community, possessing those sterling qualities that go to make up the courteous, honorable and affable gentleman. His loss will be deeply felt by all who knew him, and his place will be hard to fill at the Asylum. The afflicted relatives have our heartfelt sympathies.

The Republican Barbeque.

Last Saturday was the day appointed for the grand rally of the Republicans, without regard to age, sex, color, race, or previous condition of servitude. At an early hour the streets were thronged with people, mostly negroes, and the back-drivers kept up a continual clatter, expatiating upon the good qualities of their respective conveyances.

After dinner we went out to see, and hear, and learn what we could that would be of interest to our readers. Dinner was not quite over, and a large table was arranged under the trees, which was surrounded by the motley crowd. Another table was spread in the Floral Hall, which was well supplied with nicely cooked food for the invited guests. We learned that Mr. Feland and Mr. Pratt had spoken. By the way, Mr. Pratt, whom we found to be a very social, genial gentleman, informed us that there had been no agreement made between him and Dr. Prewitt as to the speaking. The latter, however, emphatically asserts the contrary, so there must be a mistake on one side or the other. But we will leave that to be settled by the gentlemen themselves, having implicit confidence in our standard bearer. After the crowd had been fed they began to call for more speeches. Mr. Jas. Breathitt was the first called out and came gracefully forward. Jim is an eloquent speaker and made a good speech, but marred it in the conclusion by flouting that old disreputable rag, the "bloody shirt" of his party. He was followed by some colored speakers whom we did not stay to hear. Comparatively a small number of white people were in attendance. The whole thing was a disappointment to the managers. They not only failed to get the speakers invited, but also to secure a large attendance. It will take several like it to defeat the gifted Prewitt.

TRENTON.

Jim Shanklin, while prizeing tobacco last Friday, had his leg broken and very badly mangled by the beam splitting and falling on him. He was doing well at last accounts.

Mrs. Lizzie Ware and Mr. G. E. Garth are visiting the springs at Sebree this week.

Miss Florence Edmunds has gone to Louisville to spend her vacation with friends and relatives there, but will return in time to assist Prof. Pointer in his school next fall.

Cross Wood asked me not to "give him away" about that, and I won't.

Tuesday morning seven buggies started out of Trenton, bound for Dunbar's cave. As the day was very warm and sultry, we did not get there till about noon. We were detained waiting for the young ladies to get ready most of that time. We spent the morning very pleasantly, and after dinner some of us drove into Clarksville to get some ice-cream and sherbet. One young man was very much discomfited because one of the Clarksville boys took his sweetheart away from him and went off to Clarksville. He seemed disposed to blame every one who went to his house. Coming home Joe Williams and his wife were choked down and rolled over on his back. Joe, in endeavoring to disentangle his horse from the harness, was kicked flat on his back. It was very amusing after all. The party arrived home at an unusually early hour, about six.

The young ladies of the Baptist church, assisted by a few special friends, will give an ice-cream supper at the Hall Tuesday night, July 22d. They look for a large delegation from Hopkinsville.

Miss Minnie Sims is visiting her pretty little country cousin, Miss Mary Perkins. Talley took sick.

Miss Ada Sims is visiting friends at Hampton Station.

Mrs. Dr. Dickinson, Miss Etta Dickinson, and Miss Ella Canabian went to Clarksville Wednesday, after an ice-cream freezer, (3) to make ice-cream and sherbet for the supper Tuesday night.

CHECK.

We realize and heartily enjoy the delightful political calm we are now having, for it can't last long.

The train of Thursday was gladly received by the farmers, and did great good to the growing crops. For a few weeks past a drouth seemed imminent.

The Rev. McCall, a recent visitor to this place, commenced a school at Black Jack Academy on Monday last with a good attendance, considering the oppressive weather.

All of the rocks in the "Green lane" have been blasted and removed, and we understand that arrangements have been made to remove all between this point and the western end of old Bellevue, much to the pleasure of many.

Squire Donally presented to Dr. Cullum last week, two Irish Parrots, which are attracting a good deal of attention. The parrots were purchased in Cork, Ireland, one month ago, paying $30. for the pair.

Mrs. J. L. Smith and grandson left for Dinwiddie county, Virginia, last week, where they will spend a few weeks visiting their old friends and relatives.

Mrs. M. B. Thomas and Miss Benie, her daughter, are visiting friends in Pembroke.

Misses Linnis Lander, Lucy Stevenson and Anna Roper, of Hopkinsville, are spending a few days with Mrs. McQuaid.

Dr. Jesse Cullum returned from Sebree Springs on Saturday last, much improved in health, but he is quite unwell yet. He is now at Cerulean.

About sunset Saturday afternoon, John Torian and Allan Parrish, two colored men, while returning from a brandance at Smoot's bridge, engaged in a difficulty, when Parrish drew a revolver and shot Torian in the thigh, inflicting a very serious if not fatal wound.

CROFTON.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather is very dry, Henry Long can afford to sprinkle our streets at a cost of only $4.00.

Some gentlemen from South Christian were here purchasing hogs this week. We understand they paid 2 1/2 cents for them.

Don't call us gifted Mr. Local. We are not gifted, we are a worker; only this and nothing more.

Mr. David Woodbridge, of Springfield, Tenn., sent us a magnificent 20 lb. sack of a fine day's sunc, for which we are, as the girls say, ever so much obliged.

Watermelons are beginning to ripen. We have a fine patch as a crowd ever flew over. We have bought a halfpound strychnine, borrowed three bull dogs, hired two tramps to guard it, and the man who crosses that fence must leave hope behind.

We went to Madisonville to hear Breckinridge. He is the finest orator we ever heard. Didn't have any friends there to give us dinner: went down to the hotel and ate everything there but two radishes. His beyond doubt one of the grandest accomplishments on earth to know how to get invited to dinner.

The candidates for Senator and Representative spoke here Tuesday. We were busy and did not get to hear them. We understand political excitement ran high. This is all foolishness boys, you ought not to get angry. It will do no good, argue the question like men, and part in a good humor. Well, after all, it does seem to us like this mal third for office certainly is a very disagreeable feeling.

The colored men, urged on by the men who want to sell whiskey or some other thing, are trying to get up a picnic near here.

We are suffering here for rain, the thermometer is in the nineties, the heavens look hot and the sun shines furiously. A half a million bed bugs tramp over us, Weston like, from dark until daylight, and still we are expected to "treat everybody politely."

Butler-Carter gave a ball last week which was a ball. Ben Croft played second fiddle and we tell you it was done right. Ben is not a natural musician, his talent lies sawlogward. What he knows about music is acquired, nevertheless he is a good player.

We have just learned that Mrs. Altamira Woodridge, who was on her way to Oregon, died near San Francisco, Cal. a few days ago. She was one of the kindest, purest women we ever knew. She suffered for long years pangs that no mortal can describe; at last they are over, and she sleeps peacefully away out yonder on the golden slope, but God and Heaven are as near her there as here.

The old field school is open and yet too headed urchin is in his glory. As we go to school our crop and eat down to rest, our housekeeper began to shout "you must fix a turnip patch."

While in Madisonville the other day we were directed to Mr. Claude Berry, local editor of the Times. He is the handsomest young man in that city.

We bet a horse to day than Hon. John Feland would be elected.

HIMAM.

CERULEAN SPRINGS.

Dusty and dry. Health exceedingly good for warm weather.

Uncle Harvey Lander says he is doing a better business than any man in town, and has broken up four dry goods houses in the last three years.

We haven't quite as much "human nature" round about Cerulean as our friend Shortfellow reports at Bellevue; the blackberry crop is an entire failure.

Merced's death visited our realm again last week, seeking whom he might devour. He found no easier prey than that of a little son of Joe Smith, whom he seized and carried away.

Crops are generally good, corn especially. Tobacco is doing well except in plantings, which don't seem to get a start to grow. Wheat is all threshed and the yield was better than most farmers expected. The fruit crop is nearly a total failure.

W. A. Goodwin, a merchant at this place, has lately closed out his business, and now walks around with his lips half cocked, singing the old song "Goin' to fine de county band children, etc." which, of course, means that he is going west. We suppose he is one of Uncle Harvey's victims.

Dr. A. B. Cullum has rented the property formerly occupied by Wm. A. Goodwin.

Last Saturday was the day set apart by Mr. Watkins, tax collector of Trigg, to meet his friends at this place and receive payment of taxes. Mr. Watkins came, but strange to say he enjoyed but few handshakes and spent a very lonesome day.

Mr. Harper is doing a flourishing business during this dry weather. He has quite a number of regular guests, and all seem to be enjoying themselves finely. There is room for plenty more.
